

RD 260

Indiana Line – an Italian brand with traditions

Indiana Line is an Italian brand well known for the production of loudspeakers, in which it has been engaged since 1977. The optimized production process and the rational use of components distinguish this brand from the competition with above-average quality of workmanship and sound

Indiana Line installation speakers

Installation speakers available in the Indiana Line offer are the models that have been created with a view to voice even large rooms. They will work both in a living room and in shops and restaurants. Depending on the needs, users can choose from wall-mounted speakers, as well as ceiling and built-in constructions. The timeless design of this type of sound system allows you to easily match them with any interior design.

The model for home theater systems and much more

The Indiana Line RD260 model is a 2-way concentric installation speaker with a 165 mm woofer and a 24 mm tweeter. It is intended for stereo and home theater systems (reproducing surround sound effects) and for amplifying spaces, even of a large usable area. The loudspeaker can be easily mounted on a wall or ceiling on a plasterboard, without any additional accessories.
